1. Constitution

- It is hereby established a Corporate Governance Committee, which will act as mechanism for making recommendations to the Board on all corporate governance provisions to be adopted so that the Board remains effective and complies with prevailing corporate governance principles.
- The Corporate Governance Committee (the Committee) is constituted to ensure that the reporting requirements with regard to corporate governance, whether in the annual report or on an ongoing basis, are in accordance with the principles of the applicable Code of Corporate Governance.
- The Committee is also responsible to establish a formal and transparent procedure for developing and maintaining a policy on executive remuneration and for fixing the remuneration packages of individual directors, within agreed terms of reference, to avoid potential conflicts of interest.
- The Committee's function in relation to remuneration of non-executives, for reason of self-interest, should be limited to making recommendations to the full Board and, as applicable, to the shareholders.
- The financial reward offered by the Group should be sufficient to attract people of the required calibre. Failure to attract the right people will have a negative impact on the efficiencies of the Group and, consequently, on the returns to its shareholders.
- Furthermore, the Committee will make recommendations to the Board on all new Board appointments.
- A formal process of reviewing the balance and effectiveness of the Board, identifying the skills needed and those individuals who might best be seen to be providing such skills in a fair and thorough manner, is increasingly required as an appropriate mechanism for ensuring that the Board remains effective and focused.

2. Membership

- 2.1 The Committee shall consist of a minimum of three members.
- 2.2 A non-independent chairperson of the Board can only be the chairperson of the Corporate Governance Committee on condition that the majority of the Committee are independent non-executive directors. If this is not the case, then the non-independent Chairperson of the Board can be a member of the Corporate Governance Committee, but not its chairperson. The Chairperson of the Committee would then have to be an independent non-executive director. The Chairperson shall hold office until the next Annual Meeting. He/she shall be re-eligible.
- 2.3 The Corporate Governance Committee shall be composed of a majority of non-executive independent directors.
- 2.4 The Chief Executive Officer will not be a member of the Corporate Governance Committee but will attend the meetings.

3. Secretary

The Committee shall nominate a committee secretary, who may be the Company Secretary or its representative and who will ensure that the Committee receives information and papers in a timely manner to enable full and proper consideration to be given to issues.

4. Terms of Reference

APPENDIX TO THE TERMS OF REFERENCE OF THE CORPORATE GOVERNANCE COMMITTEE

A. Guidelines for components of directors' remuneration

As part of achieving and maintaining reasonable, acceptable levels of remuneration, the Committee is encouraged to consider the following guidelines:

- Base Fees
 - The general level of hourly or daily rates of fees earned by directors in their professional capacities (e.g. as lawyers, accountants, executives, management consultants);
 - The hours spent in travel and preparation for meetings, as well as actual attendance;
 - While indirect costs pertinent to the role of directors may be separately reimbursed, a fair and reasonable allowance for any direct costs should, however, be made in the base fee;
 - In the case of companies of unusual size or complexity, a comparison can be made and a relativity established with the level of the Chief Executive officer's remuneration disregarding any incentive package;
 - Company performance (i.e. profit, dividend and share price) is not considered to be of special significance for the purpose of setting a base fee; and
 - The fee must be fair.

- Forms of payment
 - Cash;
 - Shares or share options - this can have the advantage of aligning remuneration with the interests of the shareholders by increasing the focus of directors on company performance and share value. Where share options are to be offered to non-executive directors, shareholders must approve this offer in a general meeting prior to the allocation being implemented.

- Reviews

The dates for review would also be an appropriate time to undertake evaluations of the performances of individual directors.

- Equal sharing

In line with the principle of collective responsibility, base fees should, wherever possible, be shared equally, except in the case of additional responsibility or workload such as the Chairperson and Deputy Chairperson, if applicable. The level will depend on the extent of their involvement with the Company.

- Supplementary fees

Supplementary work resulting from the membership of Board committees (e.g. audit, remuneration, etc) should be spread as evenly as possible among Board members and recognised in the level of the base fee. If supplementary fees are charged separately, they may be calculated at an hourly or daily or attendance rate rather than annually, and should be subject to review in the same manner as base fees.

- Reimbursement of expenses

- Directors should ensure that they are reimbursed for all direct and indirect expenses reasonably and properly incurred (e.g. office, secretarial, accommodation, travelling expenses).
- Accommodation and travelling expenses should include those incurred in attending all meetings of directors and Board committees, shareholders' meetings or otherwise in connection with company business.
- Where a director uses personal transport, travelling expenses should include a realistic kilometric allowance.
- Expenses applicable to multi-directorships should be apportioned on a fair and reasonable basis, having regard for the time spent on each directorship, including travelling costs.
- Directors should ensure that the Company's constitution does not restrict the reimbursement of expenses.

- Directors' and Officers' liability insurance

- Directors should, wherever practicable, arrange for such insurance to be taken out, and for such insurance to be paid by the Company.
- The cover provided by the insurance should be as extensive as permitted by law, including all risks relating to legal costs.
- Directors should ensure that the payment of insurance cover is authorised by the Company's constitution.

- Payments on termination

- The payment of retirement benefits to executive directors is an accepted practice in many companies and should be determined having regard to the Company's circumstances. Alternatively, a termination payment can be negotiated as part of their overall remuneration package.
- If retirement benefits are paid, it is recommended that, unless authorised otherwise by shareholders, the lump sum amount or the base for the pension should not exceed the total remuneration of the director in his or her capacity as a director in any three years chosen by the Committee.
- The Committee should ensure that the payments or benefits of any nature upon termination are not restricted by the Company's constitution but are fair to the Company and can be adequately justified to shareholders if called on to do so.

- Flexibility

All the components of remuneration are, in the normal course, a matter of negotiated commercial contract and, accordingly, should be sufficiently flexible to suit each individual circumstance.

B. Shareholder acceptance

- Every effort should be made to promote acceptance of the necessity for, and benefits of, a realistic realignment of director remuneration.
- Requirements to disclose remuneration in the annual report is seen as a constructive opportunity to communicate with shareholders on all aspects of remuneration.
- The information disclosed could, in relation to each director, usefully include such matters as a breakdown of remuneration into its individual components, the remuneration package as a total cost to the Company, the number of meetings attended and, if practicable, the number of hours worked.

The adoption by companies of formal remuneration policies, encompassing such matters as the philosophy behind remuneration assessments, the criteria for remuneration setting, the remuneration components, the composition and role of the Committee, and the disclosure of such policies to shareholders, can also indicate to the public a responsible approach by companies to remuneration issues.
